

Healing

*And she had cancer.
And I lifted her up to God,
saying "Heal her."
And God looked down with
love and said,
"I will give her courage and I will give her comfort."*

*And again I and others who cared,
sustained her,
praying unto Him, "Lord, heal her."*

*And He looked upon them with compassion and He Said,
"I will give her strength for her pain and peace for her soul."*

*And those who loved her cried with a loud voice,
"Lord, heal her body."*

*And the Lord of all wisdom through infinity looked down upon them and He said,
"I will steady her with my hand,
with my arm I will protect her,
And with my love I will guide her."*

*And the people nodding said, "In His love is her healing.
In her faith shines His power.
In His wisdom is her future. She is healed."
And, holding her aloft, they left her with Him.*

Julie Joachim, 57, of Agar, passed away Sunday, April 27, 2014 at her home surrounded by her family.

Julie Joyline Bush was born April 3, 1957 at Pierre, SD to John L. and Joan (Schreiber) Bush. She attended elementary country school at both Fairbanks and Prairie View. In 1975 Julie graduated from Agar High School.

On July 26, 1975 Julie was united in marriage to her high school sweetheart, Doug Joachim at the United Methodist Church in Agar. They made their home on the family farmstead for three years before moving to into Agar where they raised their two boys, Justin and Jared.

Julie started out working for the Sully County Assessor before beginning her lifelong career with the school system. She worked as the business manager for the Agar School until it's closing in 2004 and then continued as secretary at ABO School Systems.

Julie's entire life revolved around her love for her family, community and friends. She enjoyed attending sporting events, playing cards with friends, and simply taking time to enjoy life. Julie would spend time gardening, cooking and baking, mowing the yard, scrapbooking, quilting, bowling or playing farkle and bunko. Special events that Julie enjoyed attending were the JD Memorial Bull riding, the Stock Show in Rapid City and the NFR in Las Vegas. She purely loved helping others and dedicated her lifetime to everyone close to her.

She was a member of the Agar United Methodist Church and when she was younger, 4-H.

Julie's life will be cherished by her husband, Doug of Agar; her sons: Justin (Beth) and Jared (Carlie Soper) all of Gettysburg; one granddaughter: Henley Julia Jan of Gettysburg; her parents: John "Tug" and Joan Bush of Pierre; siblings: Jeff (Michele) Bush of Pierre, Jolene Bush of Custer, Janelle (Lynn) Hawks of Rapid City, and Jerry (Carol) Bush of Pierre; and her many aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and cousins.

She was preceded in death by her paternal and maternal grandparents and one godson, JD Weischedel.
