

Done Workin'

I spent my life a workin'
My chores were never done.
With callused hand and sweating brow,
I did them one by one.
But now that I'm done workin'
I'll lay my burden down
And rest in His own loving hands,
God's paradise I've found.
So do not grieve for me, my friends.
My workin' days are through,
Remember me with loving thoughts
As I remember you.
