Belva, as she was most well known as, was born August 18, 1926, to Gottlieb and Lydia (Maas) Wagner at the farm home in Menno, South Dakota in Yankton County. Belva, her twin brother, LaVern, and older sister, Lillie, rode one horse to Bender County School, which at one time had 44 students and one teacher. She attended Zion Evangelical Church, 22 miles north of Yankton. Belva was baptized as an infant and as a teenager at the church's revival she accepted Jesus as her Lord and Savior and received a Catechism Certificate. She worked at Hanks Cafe in Menno, SD where the smell of chislic became permanently imbedded in her memory.

She married Jacob A. Walter on September 28, 1947, in a double wedding ceremony in front of 200 people at the Freeman, SD gymnasium. In the ceremony, Belva's twin brother LaVern, married Jacob's sister, Phoebe, with older brother, Edwin Walter, as Pastor. Jake's 1941 Ford took the honeymooning couple to Chicago with a personal tour guide of Jake and Phoebe's sister, Anne. The couples reunited in celebration of their 25th anniversary in Sioux Falls at Jake and Phoebe's sister and husband's restaurant, "Walt and Mary's". They spent their 50th anniversary on an Alaskan Cruise with their family.

In March of 1948, they moved to a farm, 5 1/2 miles north of Saint Lawrence, where they resided for 63 years. Belva worked on the farm, in the field, delivering calves, raising chickens, turkeys, guineys, ducks, and pigs. She also enjoyed canning, gardening, and feeding the family and hired men. Saint Lawrence Community Church was their spiritual family. Belva was a lifetime member of the VFW and active in the Ladies Auxiliary number 3214. She was a Sunday school teacher, a passionate bowler, and achieved a black belt in karate.
